TWO YOUTHS KILLED WHEN CAR OVERTURNS

Two Thorndale youths were killed and three injured in a one car turnover north of Rockdale at 1 a.m. Monday morning.

Pronounced dead at the scene of the accident were Julio Vasquez, 16, of Thorndale and Moses Hinosproza, 14, of Rt. 1, Thorndale.

Injured were Joe Vasquez, 15, who suffered serious injuries; Noe Hinosproza, 18, who was listed as critical; and Tony Hinosproza, 16, who was treated for light injuries and released.

The accident occurred on FM 908 just north of Rockdale. DPS Patrolmen Jerry Randall and Mike Giles of Rockdale investigated the accident.

They also investigated a pedestrian accident near Maysfield Saturday when a 6 year old boy was struck by a car as he ran across the road. The accident was unavoidable, according to patrolmen's reports.

The child, Malcolm Phillips, underwent surgery in a Temple hospital and was in the intensive care unit, according to reports.

MARIJUANA ARRESTS

Patrolmen Milton Wright and Leroy Broadus started after a speeding vehicle Friday night and the vehicle led a chase to the city limits where Cameron police had set up a roadblock.

Five Ft. Hood soldiers in the car were charged in Justice of the Peace Jess Brock's court with possession of marijuana. Bond was set at $2,500.

Saturday night Wright and Broadus answered a call to a disturbance in the city and arrested two young local men, charging them with possession of marijuana and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Wright said four juveniles were involved in the case and were turned over to Sheriff Carl Black.

Wright and Broadus also arrested a number of drivers for driving while intoxicated.

Czech Costumes Are Authentic

Czech dancers will introduce a medley of three folk dances when they appear at Yoe Field Saturday, June 12, in the Folk Fete dance program.

Though the dances themselves are colorful, it is the appearance of 32 dancers in authentic Czech costume that has first caught audience attention at their appearances in the 1970 Folk Fete and later at the State Fair of Texas.

Mrs. Charles Chandler, who worked with Mrs. Frank Mikulec in designing costumes for the Cameron Czech dancers, said each Czech village had an individual costume that identified the wearer's home village. When a girl married, she not only took her husband's name, but also adopted the costume of his village.

"The economic situation of a village was reflected in the dress," Mrs. Chandler said. "In some villages one might see beaded caps and collars, where as in other villages the dress was very simple."

Women in the local dance group wear gaudy caps with a large bow at the back. Mrs. Chandler explained the married women wore the caps and single girls wore a garland of flowers.

The women also wear an apron of white eyelet embroidery. "The apron was a significant part of the dress and a lady was always seen wearing one," Mrs. Chandler said.

An abundance of lace is used on the women's full sleeved blouses and brightly colored embroidered trim on the men's shirts corresponds to trim on the women's skirts.

The corselet (or wesket) worn by all the dancers is of black velvet with gold trim.

Mrs. Chandler said that in their research for the costumes they learned that the ladies' corselets were always laced with the bow at the waist and Cameron will participate in the Rural Regional Housing Authority, following action by the city council at a regular meeting Tuesday night.

Action came after Narvie Caperton, RRHA director for Milam County, explained that renters and homeowners of RRHA housing would pay taxes like any other citizens.

Caperton also explained that the aim of the authority is to replace substandard housing in blighted areas. The authority would also pay for streets, curb and gutter, water and sewer if necessary in areas where housing was built.

He said the authority was considering the former county poor farm location for the possible future building of housing. The houses would be rented with an option to apply rent for an equity, he said, for home ownership.

He emphasized that the homes would be built in areas with substandard housing.

Also meeting with the council were Fire Chief Carl Black and a delegation of Cameron volunteer firemen. They asked for an explanation of a recent complaint about trucks leaving the city unprotected while they answered rural fire calls.

The complaint was made by officials at the Royal Seating Corp. and discussed by the council in an executive session May 18.

Council action at that meeting called for directing the fire chief not to let the number one fire truck leave the city limits at any time, and for him to exercise discretion about allowing trucks other than the number one truck to answer calls outside the city limits.

Black cited efforts of the volunteer firemen in their work and said another fire truck is needed to bring the department up to its maximum effectiveness.

He added that if fire broke out at Royal Seating, it would "flash from one end of the building to the other" and one truck couldn't handle such a fire.

Mayor E. A. Perrin said the complaint came after Royal Seating officials learned that on the night of the May 9 storm, one truck answered a call to Burlington and one went to Buckholts.

"In case of disaster Cameron would depend on the fire department as the quickest emergency relief," Mayor Perrin said. "Taxpayers who furnish the

I know something of vendettas. So it is more than common interest to 112 to see what is happening to some or most of the "Dirty 30" who are being cudgeled by the proposed redistricting plan.

I opposed Rep. Dan Kubiak once and help beat him. I opposed him a second time, and he won in a close race over Cameronite Milton Schiller, now a vice-president of Texas State Technical Institute.

Regardless, it seems Rep. Kubiak, among others, is being boxed for opposition to a big tax bill and asking for full disclosure of the Sharpstown episode.

It is not only these men, a coalition which is being abused in a game of politics. It is you and I, who ultimately pay for these activities in poor government, poor legislation.

Instead of carving one another up in Austin, a properly led Legislature would be instituting preparation for a Texas Constitutional Convention which would turn this state's legal process toward the 21st Century, instead of leaving it mired in the reactionary aftermath of the Civil War.

Rep. Mutscher, the House speaker, well might be a good representative for the Brenham area, where he is undoubtedly strong. But the leadership of this session of the Texas House has been a disaster. Public opinion of all elective and appointive government in this state will dig deep before finding a lower water table of indignation.

Controversy is a natural result of politics, of journalism, of anything where difference of opinion, religion, region, philosophy meets. But it is time Texas realizes even it is not big enough for 19th Century powerplays at the expense of public confidence in the elective system. There is just not that much confidence in government left.

Through some 20 controversies of size in the past 10 years, your Herald has learned that people gain or lose confidence in an institution or system by watching the effects of controversy.

As Eleanor Roosevelt said one time, "This, too, shall pass", so do the vendettas and the petty nipping which people now associate with so much of public life.

Main point is local and state government must grow up to the responsibilities of government if local and state government is to assume roles dominated by the federal bureaucracy.

That is the hope, but that is not now the promise in Texas. Alternatives are a police state, disintegration of the elective process, some kind of hippy-dippy anarchy or some other brand of "Mutscher power", as the dailies call it.

The whole present question of redistricting, incidentally a legislative responsibility, will probably be decided in the courts, the judicial branch of government.

None of this is a pleasant prospect.

Coincidentally, your Herald maintains a bulletin board of features either by or about your Herald, or both, which have appeared in national, state and regional publications. We are mindful of those special readers who are concerned with that error in 1,000 or so which is the bane of any publication.

We only hope they would read more of the whole picture before dissecting a fraction thereof.

Alcoa Signs Union Pact

NEW YORK, N. Y. Aluminum Company of America and the United Steelworkers of America Monday achieved a new three-year labor agreement affecting approximately 11,000 employees at nine operating locations, according to Alcoa officials.

The agreement, with provisions differing in detail but generally in line with settlements negotiated recently in other key industries, was reached here prior to the expiration today of the former three-year contract.

Significant provisions of the new accord call for general hourly wage increases of 50 cents an hour, effective June 1, and 12.5 cents an hour additional in each of the second and third years.

A cost-of-living adjustment, commencing June 1, 1972, provides for a one-cent an hour increase for each 0.4 point rise in the consumer price index, with quarterly adjustments and a guaranteed minimum adjustment of 12.5 cents an hour by the end of each of the second and third contract years.

Other items provide for improved insurance, pension and vacation benefits, and the day after Thanksgiving as an additional holiday, beginning next year.

Negotiations directed by J. G. Morber, Alcoa's Vice President - Personnel, have been underway since April 13.

Terms of the new Alcoa-USW contract affect hourly-aid employees at Alcoa, Tenn.; Bauzite, Ark.; Mobile, Ala.; Marshall, Point Comfort, and Rockdale, Texas; New Kensington, Pa.; Badin, N. C.; and Richmond, Ind.

Alcoa also announced Monday that its published prices for nearly all fabricated products will be increased by an average of approximately six per cent, effective with all shipments made on or after September 1.

The company said it is not increasing the price of primary ingot.

Alcoa said the upward adjustments in mill product prices were imperative because of sharply higher labor costs resulting from newly negotiated union agreements. The company further noted the continuing rising spiral of materials, services and labor expenses, which Alcoa has been absorbing for more than a year.

New Alcoa price schedules will be mailed to customers in the immediate future, the company said.

Buckholts Sets Clean-Up Day

Buckholts will have a community clean-up day from 8 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday, June 5.

The community project is sponsored by the Buckholts Lions Club, Buckholts Boy Scouts and the Buckholts FFA Chapter.

Residents are asked to put all trash in front of their homes to be picked up. Bottles and cans should be placed in containers. Large articles will also be picked up if placed out in front of homes.

The clean-up day is the first community project to be organized by the newly chartered Buckholts Lions Club.

Cameron Club To Host

Cam-Roc Day Saturday

Cameron Country Club will host Rockdale Country Club members for the annual "Cam-Roc Day" Saturday. Gene Blake, president of the Cameron Country Club, said activities will include a team match golf tournament for the men, a ladies golf tournament, sons golf tournament, bridge tournament for ladies from 2 to 5 p.m., barbecue dinner from 6 to 8 p.m. and an informal patio dance to begin at 9 p.m.

CZECH DANCING - is a family affair for the Charles Chandlers, Ken dances in the childrens circle, Susan in the teenage group, Mrs. Chandler and her husband (not pictured) in the adult group. Their authentic costume designs are a result of research that also turned up some interesting information about life in the pre-war Czech villages.

Two Sides Of The Bridge...

Now the Cameron Independent School District and the Cameron Chamber are on to something: this vocational survey.

No doubt but technical and vocational needs in Central Texas are changed. The survey will tell just how these changes should be reflected in the high school system for job training in a modern era.

Needs for technical training directly to employment now will be discovered and prospective needs will be established by this survey.

Public schools will be going two ways in the future: better technical training and better academic training. The American public school system does teach citizenship which will provide a bridge between the spreading interests of the two kinds of public school student.

If we command the technical age, rather than vice versa, we must have the finest minds in tune with the ablest hands and technical insights. And the reason must be a better country within a framework of incredibly close communication and competition with Western Europe and Asia, particularly in this decade, Japan.

It starts at the local level, if it has not already started. And this survey brings to light what technical skills are needed now, promising a base upon which technical training can be meaningful at the local level as well as the national and international.

This vocational survey is important. It will broaden our view as well as improve public education here.

Let's Play Tennis...

A Cameron area tennis program is underway with 23 enrolled going for about 35 to 40 after regular practice sessions get underway.

A qualified instructor and aides are organized and night sessions are scheduled each Monday and Wednesday evening.

Heavy enrollment the first night gives reason for either the school or City of Cameron to take an additional look at tennis facilities here. Two courts are not going to be enough. Some additional lights are worthy of consideration to augment the 1940's vintage.

Volunteers are working toward a backboard for practice session, judges stands for tournament play and small bleachers to replace those that used to be at the Yoe Courts.

City of Cameron has a small recreation fund. Perhaps it could be tapped for the purchase of a few dozen cans of tennis balls for the summer program. Most everything else is furnished by the instructors or the players or the school system.

Tennis is a great game for a number of reasons. It can be played all one's adult life; it can be played in mixed groups and ages; it can keep a person fit way past 40 or 50. Not many sports can do one of these things.

We urge both the school board to consider this favorable use of newly updated facilities, when in fact they wondered if they would be used at all, and the city council to help add another summer recreation to an otherwise inadequate summer program for public recreation.

Dateline Austin...

New Tax Laws Will Go Into Effect On July 1

Sixty-second Legislature wound up its regular session with a bang and a roar -- and a few whimpers.

In a photo-finish, the House Senate conferees turned out a record $6.9 billion biennial budget for near-deadline consideration.

Lawmakers earlier agreed on a $617 million tax bill which will go into effect July 1, then followed up with $35 million worth of new taxes on liquor-by-the-drink and by-the-gallon.

Texasans will be paying four percent sales (five, in most cities) and auto sales - rental tax. 18.5 cents a pack on cigarettes; $4.50 per $1,000 on corporation franchises; and $5 per barrel on beer. A 10 per cent gross receipts tax will be levied on mixed-drink sales and $1.95 a gallon on liquor sales generally. A gasoline tax increase, approved earlier, was repealed in a subsequent bill.

Among other achievements for which the 62nd Legislature will be remembered are:

*Ratification of a federal constitutional amendment to lower the voting age to 18.

*Approval of a liquor-by-the-drink sales act and submission of a mixed-drink referendum to the first group of wet counties on May 18.

*Congressional and legislative redistricting.

*Submitted a constitutional amendment to authorize the convening legislature in 1974 to sit as a convention to rewrite Texas' constitution.

*Passed far-reaching bank law reform legislation.

*Creation of a tuition-backed revenue-bond fund to build new state colleges.

*Establishment (by constitutional amendment) of a $100 million bond fund to aid cities that build sewer facilities.

Lawmakers gave up budgeting for welfare services for this biennium, and will return next year (if not sooner) to appropriate funds for 1973 assistance to the needy, meanwhile hoping for expanded federal aid.

An appointee who served one day as "executive" of a printing company was ineligible for the "employer" member position on the Texas Industrial Accident Board, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

*Governor does not have power to veto proposed constitutional amendments.

*A bill providing that a dry area annexed to a wet area shall occupy the same wet status as the annexing area is unconstitutional, as it violates the local option mandate.

*Applications signing petitions for incorporation of a new town must be qualified electors who have resided in the area at least six months. Area must contain more than 200 inhabitants (who do not have to be qualified electors.)

*Out-of-state witnesses in criminal cases received compensation solely from the state, not the counties.

*Environmental Protection Act of 1971 is constitutional in authorizing private individuals to maintain legal anti-pollution actions on behalf of the public or to sue the state, but vagueness and caption of the bill offer constitutional problems.

*Bill authorizing commissioners courts in "counties of one million to 1.5 million" to prohibit keeping of hogs within 500 feet of a residence not in an incorporated city is unconstitutional.

*A hospital district in which an indigent prisoner was held by the sheriff is liable for his medical bills when it did not have adequate facilities and treatment had to be administered by another hospital.

*Texas Board of Licensure for Nursing Home Administrators has no authority to fix licensing fee of $50 per annum for "administrators in training."

*A Senate Department of Public Welfare employee called out on an emergency mission for protective service to an abandoned or abused child is entitled to reimbursement for official travel mileage expense.

U. S. Supreme Court decision striking down Georgia's financial responsibility law poses a threat to Texas' law. Court said the law must provide for determination of fault before a driver's license is suspended.

Third Court of Civil Appeals here reversed the local court in a suit involving control of an Abilene bank.

State recovered $6,000 penalty from Texas Rockwool of Belton in an air pollution suit filed by the attorney general on behalf of the State Air Control Board.

State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers got a permanent injunction against a Del Rio man from practicing engineering or representing self to the public as a licensed professional engineer.

Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth was designated by House Speaker Gus Mutscher of Brenham as speaker pro tempore of the House of Representatives.

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT

The American taxpayer pays twice; at home and on our foreign installations to provide the military umbrella. It may be to our advantage to provide the umbrella but some help in holding up the umbrella seems to be in order. -J.C.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

According to an article I read in a newspaper the other day and am just now getting around to thinking about, the Food and Drug Administration in Washington has come out with a new truth-in-labeling rule.

Under it, if a grocery store advertising Idaho potatoes, for example, those potatoes have to come from Idaho, Louisiana hot sauce has to come from Louisiana, etc. Can't be selling Arkansas potatoes in an Idaho sack or Idahos in an Arkansas sack. This rule was demanded by either the potato or the sack people, I don't know which.

I guess there's some point to this, although it's impossible for me to tell where a potato came from, if the gravity's made right. As for Louisiana hot sauce, it's all what you're used to, I guess, as the people in Chicago say about their mayor.

However, this truth-in-labeling can be carried too far. For example, if you think right hard you probably can think of one or two people acting as Congressmen who are clearly mis-labeled.

Is the Food and Drug Administration coming out with a rule against this?

Of course you might argue the Food and Drug Administration is talking only about items that are for sale, but it's entirely possible those Congressmen could meet those terms too. Or take some State Legislators... but I won't get into that. When a man makes his point he ought to stop and leave something for his readers to fill in on their own.

Come to think of it, how about cafes that serve home-cooked meals a mile from any home? And won't Boston-baked beans get mighty cold if they're served in Cameron? Not even a super-sonic plane we can't afford could get them her that fast.

Rules sometimes get pretty complicated. I believe in truth in advertising all right, but if the next step is to require complete truth in Congressmen, for example, or complete truth in people, you've got a mighty unwieldy job on your hands.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Diplomatic Pouch

Washington, D.C. -- The following letters were recently answered by the Department of State:

Confronting World Communism

We Americans, each and every one of us disciples of the immortal Thomas Jefferson, must forge and assert an iron will to smash once and for all the influence of the Soviet Union and World Communism. Millions of men, women, and children are looking to the United States for their deliverance from Soviet slavery. We must not fail in this calling.

P.S.
Eureka, Calif.

Dear P.S.:

The Department of State fully supports your views on the importance of the Democratic way of life and the vital heritage of Thomas Jefferson. This Department was created almost two hundred years ago and first led by Jefferson. It has from its inception been charged with promoting and executing foreign policies designed to support the national interest and the interests of its citizens.

In this regard, the responsible agencies of the U.S. Government are making every effort to cope with the techniques employed by the Soviet Union and allied regimes to spread their power and influence. Accordingly, while we shall continue to make an effort to engage the Soviet Union in mutually beneficial negotiations, the U.S. Government holds no illusions about its relations with the Soviet Union and will continue to take all steps necessary to protect the security of the United States.

Yellowtail Flounder

Can you tell me what is being done to preserve the stocks of yellowtail flounder off the coast of New England, now that they are so severely depleted?

M.P.A.
New Bedford, Mass.

Dear M.P.A.:

The yellowtail flounder regulations which were proposed by the International Commission for the Northwest Atlantic Fisheries are now in effect and are binding on all 15 nations which are members of the Commission. Under the regulations, the total catch of yellowtail flounder in the Convention area off southern New England will be limited to 29,000 metric tons this year.

The yellowtail flounder stocks in this area are depleted and the limitation on the catch is necessary to conserve and restore the stocks. Fishermen from any of the 15 nations which fish for yellowtail in this area must abide by the minimum mesh size regulations. This would include Soviet fishermen if they fished for yellowtail.

However, in view of the depleted state of the stock, the relative small fishery for yellowtail, and the dependence of American small boat fishermen in the area on this fish, particularly those from New Bedford, Soviet fisheries authorities have voluntarily agreed to refrain from fishing for yellowtail. Since no other foreign fishermen have been fishing for it, this means that in practice the entire catch quota will be reserved for American fishermen.

Compensation

I hope that you will see that the Soviet Government is made to pay for all the damage to the property of American diplomats and other officials in Russia, just as the Soviet Union orders us to pay for damage done to Russian property in the United States.

Fort Collins, Col.

Dear L.O.S.:

Pleased rest assured that the U.S. Government will hold the Soviet Union responsible for damage done to American property in the U.S.S.R. In years past, the Soviet Government has compensated our government for damage suffered during demonstrations in front of our Embassy in Moscow.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

SENATOR CHARLES H. PERCY (Ill.). "Once again the strength of the dollar has come under attack."

"The European nations that were putting great pressure on the dollar last week are the same nations that, year after year, have refused to bear their fair share of NATO military expenditures."

"Japan spends less than 1 percent of its gross national product for national defense, and West Germany spends only about one-half the percentage of its GNP for defense that the United States does. The United States absorbs a large share of the costs for the defense of both of these nations."

"At the same time, these countries which are protected by the U.S. military umbrella, impose restrictions on U.S. trade exports. Japan has many restrictions on U.S. exports at the same time that the United States has an open market for Japanese exports. The Common Market -- including Germany -- has a tariff system designed to decrease American agriculture exports."

"Japan continues to close the door on American capital and American manufactured goods coming into Japan. The most ludicrous example is automobiles. Japan wants unlimited access to the American market for its steel. And the steel goes into automobiles. Yet Japan restricts these same automobiles built with Japanese steel, from entering the Japanese market, believing they will disrupt the Japanese economy.

"At the same time, Japan enjoys the prestige and power of an industrial nation, one that is EXPECTED TO SURPASS THE AMERICAN PRODUCTION BY 1972 if it continues at the present rate.

"A country such as Japan CANNOT HAVE IT BOTH WAYS. . . It cannot hover under the umbrella of American protection and restrict American exports. . .

"There are (also) specific ways in which we can cut down on our NATO expenditures."

"One, salaries of the 74,000 local nationals employed by the U.S. forces. Of these 62,000 are in Germany and about $250 MILLION ANNUALLY IS PAID IN DOLLARS TO HIRE FOREIGN NATIONALS TO WORK IN THE COMMON DEFENSE FOR EUROPE. . .

"In addition, we should not have to pay many of the taxes in Europe we currently pay, such as REAL PROPERTY TAXES, LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL TAXES, BUSINESS TAXES, AND IMPORT TAXES. "We do not pay taxes to local communities and States for our installations here and yet WE PAY EUROPEAN GOVERNMENTS TAXES ON PROPERTY WE MAINTAIN OVER THERE. . .

Luncheon Honors Retirees

The faculty and the entire staff of workers of the Rogers Public Schools honored Miss Mary P. Culbreth and Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Harbour, all retiring from the Rogers schools and from the teaching profession, with a luncheon at Holiday Inn in Temple Monday noon.

The head table was decorated with two arrangements of fresh spring flowers contributed by the Rogers High School newspaper, "The Eagle's Eye" and Miss Connie Shumate, sponsor. The arrangements were given to the honorees.

Mrs. Edith Starns, Mrs. Alta Seay, and Robert White were the arrangements committee. Holiday Inn served the group a buffet lunch.

Mrs. Captolia Akin, Mrs. Billie Ann Agee, and Mrs. Nancy Godwin were the gifts committee, presenting Miss Culbreth with a silver coffee service and a silver compote. They presented the Harbours with individual tote or flight bags.

J. L. Chervinka from the high school staff was the speaker, reminiscing with incidents about the three honorees.

The Rogers High School annual staff, "The Eagle", honored Miss Culbreth and the Harbours at their spring dinner at El Cha Cho Restaurant in Temple on May 21. Mrs. Alta Seay is sponsor of that group.

Couple Married In San Antonio

MRS. STEPHEN ANTHONY CERWIN

Miss Kathy Senkel became the bride of Mr. Stephen Anthony Cerwin on Saturday, May 29, in Saint Pauls Catholic Church, San Antonio, Texas. Msgr. Popp officiated the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Senkel of San Antonio. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Cerwin of San Antonio. The grandmother of the bride is Mrs. Joe Hibner of Cameron.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of silk organza with lace inserts. Her veil of illusion was bordered with matching lace.

Miss Patti Cerwin, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. Mrs. David Knappe of San Antonio was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Anne Marie Cerwin, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Laurene Thi-beau, and Mrs. John C. Shedd, Jr., all of San Antonio. The bride's attendants wore floor length dresses of pale blue silk organza.

The bride's mother chose an Alaskan silk dress in pale pink and wore a corsage of orchids. The groom's mother wore a green crepe and lace dress with an orchid corsage.

Michael Clark of San Antonio served as best man. Groomsmen were Patrick Mullen of Austin, James Hartnett of Galveston, John C. Shedd Jr. and Danny Lamm, both of San Antonio.

Ushers were John Hartnett of Houston, Melvin Rivers of College Station, and David Knappe of San Antonio.

Laura Ann Mullen of Austin, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl and Kelly Clark was ringbearer.

A reception was held at the Fort Sam Houston Club.

The bride's table was covered with white net over satin and centered with silver candelabras. The five-tiered wedding cake was decorated with blue roses.

Mrs. Patrick Mullen of Austin served the wedding cake and Miss Jo Ann Rizzo served the groom's cake. Mrs. Melvin Rivers and Mrs. Pete Provost served punch. Mrs. Michael Clark registered guests.

The couple will make their home at 6034 Misty Valley Drive in San Antonio where the groom is a student at Saint Marys University.

The groom's parents were hosts for a rehearsal dinner Friday evening at the Canyon Creek Country Club in San Antonio.

ROMAN CHECKS

Travelers in Roman times carried traveler's checks to protect themselves against robbers. Banks issued the checks for a fee of 12 percent, the rate set by the Emperor Justinian.

Episcopal Rites Unite William Looney, Bride

Miss Susan Sample and William Willis Looney Jr. exchanged wedding vows Saturday evening in St. Alban's Episcopal Church in St. Alban's Episcopal Church, Waco, with Rev. Fred W. Kneipp officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James Robert Sample of Waco and Mr. and Mrs. William Willis Looney.

The bride wore a formal gown of ivory organza with pearly Alencon lace applique on the bodice and long sleeves. An organza ruffle edged the lace-hemmed A-line skirt. Her full-length mantilla was of illusion edged in lace and she carried a colonial bouquet of roses and carnations.

Miss Kathy Whitehurst of Dallas was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sister Miss K. Looney, Miss Kathie Ray of Dallas and Mrs. Lloyd Cagle of Houston.

Teen Party Theme Is Juke Box Saturday Night

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dase, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lester, and Mr. Ray Lester honored Miss Melissa Lester with a patio dance Saturday, May 15, at the Ray Lester home.

About 40 guests entered the patio area through a pathway lighted by hurricane lamps. A tree filled with crystal and colored twinkle lights lighted the patio and refreshment area.

Assorted dips, chips, and donut holes were served from a white and maroon covered tables. A large stylized maroon fish floated from a tree over the main serving table and punch was chilled with lemon lime floats frozen in the shape of fish.

The guests enjoyed an evening of dancing from 8 to 12 as they selected current popular tunes from a brightly lighted juke box.

Patio Party Honors Yoe Graduates

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dase honored Kathryn, Kahler, Cynthia Krieg, Peggy Lester, Marion Thomas and fellow classmates with an informal patio supper at the Dase home Tuesday, May 18 from 8 to 9:30 p.m.

As guests arrived, they were served assorted iced drinks from a gaily colored wheelbarrow. A menu of baked beans, potato salad, and relishes were served along with hamburgers grilled by Mr. Dase.

After the main course, a traditional Yoe graduation cake was cut and served by Mrs. Dase. Guests enjoyed informal conversation and reminiscing throughout the evening.

Ethnic Excitment In Fashions For Summer

Fashion is costumery with the "ethnic" look leading the parade. But, what exactly is an ethnic look? Ethnic, a new fashion term, is a form of dressing derived from the influence of a particular location, culture or era, usually characterized by hand-crafted - looking items based on customs of the different groups.

These colorful costumes come on the scene from many different ethnic elements - Indians from American to Aztec, the old West, gypsy, Spanish gauchos, Victorian, modern Afro peasant, folkloric, mid and far Eastern, granny and Oriental and mixtures of these great looks, too. Fashion, fabric, accessories, and imagination are used to create one or several types. The alternatives are many, and choice is individual.

CONJURE UP A COSTUME

The fancied favorites on the current fashion scene are the romantics. Pretty peasants from Southern Europe, prairie girls, milkmaids, gypsies, and Victorian maidens make up these "soft" looks. These are primarily feminine frocks with similar styling and fashion features - ruffles, flounces and frills are abundant.

Peasants and prairie girls wear the feminine milkmaid dresses characterized by short puffed sleeves and cinched waists with fullish skirts drifting to the knee or the floor. Colors and patterns are soft and gentle.

Hot-blooded gypsies are found in scooped-cut necklines, sashed waistlines and billowy skirts, full and flounced. Patterns are prominent in smoldering earthtones.

Victorian maidens are demure in typically high-ruffled collars, narrower sleeves, and skirts spattered with delicate lace and ribbon. Fabrics are soft and shimmery in muted tones with an antique feeling. With the bast supply of unique trim for inset waistbands, flounced hems, wide cuffs and ruffled neck edges. There are woven and textured ribbons, unusual braids and banding, delicate laces and embroidered strips that can be used to add a uniquely handcrafted touch of old.

Smocking, embroidery and sundry other stitchery methods make interesting accents of all-over pattern, depending on the feeling you wish to achieve.

The Western and Mediterranean cowboy looks are another phase of this year's costume dressing. They take their influence from the matadors of Spain, the Argentinian gauchos of the pampas and the American-style cowboys, right out of the old West. Most of the cowboy or cowgirl looks are characterized by intricate seaming, great detail and super stitching. Style variations are traced to their origin - that

MRS. MICHAEL PATE

Church Rites Unite Miss Robbins, Pate

Miss Jacqueline Robbins, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Alton Robbins of Cameron and Rev. Michael Pate, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Pate of Gatesville were married in a double ring, candlelight ceremony Saturday, May 29, in the Cameron Gospel Tabernacle Church.

The couple exchanged vows in the sanctuary where candelabra held burning white candles and greenery completed the setting. The Rev. H. M. Bowley performed the ceremony. Mrs. Denton House, Mrs. Bob Miller and Mr. Charles King of Killeen presented traditional wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an A line white silk organza gown scattered over with daisy appliques and seed pearls. A beaded headpiece held her tiered silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade of pink sweetheart roses.

The bride's sisters, Mrs. Jean Day and Mrs. Cheryl Staton, both of Austin, were honor attendants. Bridesmaids were Miss Linda Pate of Gatesville, sister of the groom, and Miss Debra Day of Austin.

The bride's attendants wore dresses of hot pink peau de soie and carried small cascade bouquets of pink roses with streamers of satin ribbons tied in love knots. Their hairpieces were pink roses over net.

Flower girls were Brenda and Janet Williams. Their dresses were identical to those worn by the bridesmaids and they carried white baskets filled with flower petals. Derrick Peiske of Thrope was ring bearer.

Rev. Leon Lott of Brady served as bestman. Groomsmen were Clifford Staton of Austin, Robbie Shoaf of Gatesville and Don Turner of Temple.

G. and Swain Day of Austin were ushers and candlelighters.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Community Service Room.

Miss Elizabeth Cockrell of Temple registered guests. Others in the houseparty were Mrs. Glenda Ivy and Mary Tamez of Temple.

Parents of the groom were hosts Friday evening for a rehearsal dinner at the Church Fellowship Hall.

Following a short wedding trip the couple will reside in Gatesville. Rev. Pate is a minister in the evangelical field.

Bride-Elect Honored At Tea

Miss Lynette Green, bride-elect of Mr. James William Sweeney of Paducah, Texas, was honored at a tea Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Mildred Thornton.

Hostesses for the pre-nuptial party were Mmes. Morris Epley, Bob Wells, Van Reed, Miss Christine Laws and Miss Thornton.

Approximately 85 guests called between the appointed hours of 3 to 5:30 p.m. In the receiving line were Miss Green, Mrs. Carroll M. Green, mother of the honoree; Mrs. Sweeney Mother of the prospective groom; and Mrs. Leland Green, Sr., grandmother of the honoree.

A tall arrangement of aqua carnations and babies-breath in a silver and crystal epergne centered the tea table in the dining room where punch, strawberries and frosted cake squares were served. Arrangements of magnolia blossoms were placed at focal points in the party rooms and at an outdoor punch table on the patio.

Mrs. Carroll Green, Jr. presided at the punch service. Others in the houseparty were Miss Valerie Green, Mrs. Dan Browder, both sisters of the honoree, and Miss Julia Beth Sweeney of Paducah.

Miss Green and Mr. Sweeney will be married July 10 at the First United Methodist Church of Cameron.

Farewell Tea Fetes Mrs. Coufal

Mrs. Roy Coufal was honored at a farewell tea Friday afternoon at the home of Miss Susan Rosson. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Alvis Coleman, Mrs. Hal Stanislaw and Miss Rosson.

An arrangement of larkspur, babies-breath and pink roses centered the dining room table where punch, finger sandwiches and strawberries were served. Table appointments were of crystal and silver.

Guests for the farewell tea included teachers at Ada Henderson School and special friends of Mrs. Coufal.

The Coufal family will move to Kyle, Texas next week. They have been residents of Cameron for the past 2 years and Mrs. Coufal has been on the faculty at Ada Henderson School.

Personal Mention

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Green, Jr. and son Scot, are now residing in Cameron and Mr. Green is employed by Mobil in Temple. The Green's formerly resided in San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Humble are on a two week vacation, touring the southern states.

Mrs. Frank Stewart and Frank Stewart, Jr. were Sunday visitors of Charles Frank Green who is critically ill in an Austin hospital.

straight from the pampas. Of course, the Indians can take credit from fashionable fringe, too, depending on how it's used.

Shapes are important, especially outlined in lots of shiny stuff - hardware trims and closures. Boleros, still cropped and curved, are a favorite in varied shapes and lengths as partners for the pants and skirt looks. Colors are rich - usually in deep muted solids.

Jumpsuits in every length - short, gaucho, and long - have taken their lead from the old West too, engineer style. Here we find not only fashion, but comfort and easy fit. Colors are spiced with white for that denim look in solid or pattern. Hardware buckles are important for strap closures and belting.

An Afro influence is noticeable in various shapes and sizes of caftans, djellabas, and tunics with wide trumpet sleeves, often trimmed in craftily looking banding. Primitive wrap skirts and tied-up tops expose a bared-midriff, jungle-style. But, it's the fabric that makes the difference - dark collors in vivid African patterns of strong geometrics and intricate curves really keep up the jungle beat.

Costumes go to all lengths - many are calf and ankle-grazing. But, it's the mood that counts not the length.

is, fabulous fringe from the old American West, cropped boleros and capes have that Mediterranean flair, and the gaucho pants

25 Enroll In Tennis Class

About 25 players are starting in a Cameron area tennis clinic underway each Monday and Wednesday evening at Yoe Campus Courts.

Players are invited to enroll at the 6:30 p.m. classes.

Twenty-three registered in the 9-year-old to adult program Monday night and first evening of practice for the group began Wednesday under three instructors.

Organizing the program is Frank M. Luecke, a 1951-53 varsity tennis player at the University of Missouri, assisted by Sam White, a freshman intramural tennis player at Texas A&M University and R. W. Wells, Cameron business executive and intramural player at the University of Oklahoma.

Classes are being divided into youth beginners, 9 through 13; juniors, boys and girls 14 through 18; and adults, men and women over 18.

Plans include building backboards adjacent to backstops of the Yoe Courts for practice, some judges stands for calling matches and some small spectator stands for use during summer mini-tournaments and playoffs.

Luecke played three years varsity tennis at Missouri, following juniors and men's competition several years in the Northern Indiana Tennis Association, a sanctioned member of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

Players will be taught fundamentals by group. Individual competition and instruction will begin next week for more advanced players.

Players will be ranked by July 1 in one-set mini-tournaments for ease of matching players during the tennis season, Luecke said. Beginners will continue to work fundamentals and be asked to practice regularly during the day.

Enrolled thus far are:

BEGINNERS -- Ann Wells, Michael Salach, Debbie Armstrong, Susan Fikes, Tracy Barr, Lynn Willy, Melissa Delony, Linda Hughes, Jayson Raymond.

ADULTS -- Mrs. Melba Wells, Roy Boutwell, Mrs. Charlene Boutwell, Mrs. Mary Lee Thwaitt, Mrs. Carol Barr, Wells and White.

Players are asked to furnish practice balls, their own tennis racket, tennis shoes and wear white tennis apparel, Luecke said.

"This is a sport that has gone unsupported in Cameron for almost a generation," Luecke said. "It is obvious interest is high and that additional tennis facilities are already justified by the first-night enrollment in competition with Yoe High School graduation activities."

Efforts are also underway to develop a program to furnish tennis balls during the summer training sessions and during sanctioned competition.

HIGH CABLE CAR

Switzerland this year plans to build Europe's highest cable car which will take sightseers up to 12,800 feet on the Feekopf Slope.

Most experienced fishermen learned early in the game that no two bodies of water are alike. In fact, that goes for areas too. Even the Texas coast, with all its water, has many personalities.

A good fisherman can catch fish in most any water. This is mainly because he takes a good look around before he ever casts a lure.

Texas is blessed with many fine lakes, all stocked with game fish. Basically they are the same species—bass, crappie, catfish and bream.

There are several species of bass. In most Texas lakes and ponds, it is possible to take the largemouth black bass, sometimes up to seven or eight pounds.

But, the abundance usually goes to the white or sandy.

The Kentucky spotted bass is in the minority in most lakes of Texas. In fact, there are many fishermen who apparently don't recognize a Kentucky.

There are also several species of catfish, usually all found in the same waters.

But catching these fish is another thing. What works fine in some impoundments, or even streams, doesn't work in others.

Naturally, there is a difference in the fishing of East Texas and West Texas. In the East Texas pine timber area even the water is different. Although fairly clear, it still has a dark color, caused by the tannic foliage. In that area the lakes are generally devoid of rocks, but many of them are loaded with dead timber.

Because there is so much timber in these lakes there are many floating logs. Usually they hang up in some of the brush. Naturally, the brush, trees and logs make an ideal habitat for fish of all species.

Needless to say, such water must be fished differently. Underwater lures are difficult to use because of the multiplicity of brush on the bottom of the lake. On the other hand, many fishermen are finding that plastic worms work wonders in this water, when fished in the approved manner with a slip sinker and weedless rigging of the worm.

But when you get out of this black land country, through the cross timbers and into central and west Texas, fishing is entirely different. It too is difficult to fish. There are many rocks, ideal cover for fish. There are deep canyons leading into the main body of the lake and water backs up into these canyons. Such tributaries are the spawning area for white bass. Blacks like this water, too.

These lily pads of the East Texas waters are absent, but much of the water is covered with algae. This is hard on the fisherman, but the covering of the green stuff does provide some protection from the hot sun for the fish. So, fish hide there.

Naturally, the best bet for fishing is to know the water. But if you don't know it, then take time to study the impoundment. Try to learn something of its personality.

Most of the lakes have maps, some of which show the various depth of the water. Get one of these maps, then try to stay on the curves. Better yet—get yourself an electronic device—commonly called the fish finder.

Remember, however, that this equipment does not suffice unto itself. You must pay attention to the things around you. This is what makes fishing worthwhile. Furthermore, it adds not only to your enjoyment but to the number of fish on your stringer.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

Handy Tent Patch

"Iron on" patches are handy for repairing the snagged or torn clothes of the outdoorsman. They also can be used to patch that hole in the tent.

Heat a pot and use the bottom of the pot to iron on the patch.

Hook and Bait Saver

Sinkers that hang-up in rocky areas when you're surf fishing often cause line breakage. Result is loss of hooks and bait.

If you need a heavy sinker that's disposable (and free), use an old discarded spare plug. Hammer the electrodes together, then tie on a short wire leader—from line to electrode loop.

Then, if you get snagged—a sharp pull on the line will release the wire and free the bait and hook.

Emergency Frying Pan

Did you forget your frying pan, Mr. Camper? The top off that 6-gallon lard can will serve in an emergency. At least it did in one instance.

And the hub cap off the old jalopy was a substitute used by another outdoorsman.

Reloading the Reel Spool

It's easy to reload the reel spool when you're out at the lake, or on it. Just run the end of the line down through the guides, from tip-top guide to the reel, and the line to the spool. Then simply toss the fresh spool far out into the lake and start reeling in the line.

Believe it or not, the spool will spin right where it landed, as the line comes off—and give just the right tension for an A-1, line-spooling job.

If you don't want to use all the line, just paddle over and pick up the spool whenever you have wound off what you need.

Bleach Bottle Uses

There are dozens of uses the outdoors woman can make of empty bleach bottles.

Cut off the tops of three different sizes and they make excellent emergency bowls that fit, one inside the other, for easy storage. They are light but strong and can be used as mixing bowls or for refrigerator storage.

Men find the old plastic bottles ideal as scoops or for bailing water from the boat. It all depends on the way you slice it.

Identify the Kiddies

Vacationers who take along the kiddies find peace of mind in equipping the youngsters with identification bracelets, tags or pins.

Each day add the current address to a luggage tag, hung by a string, necklace-style. Or slap a piece of ident tape on the child's wrist.

LIONS-TIGERS

The Lions and the Tigers met Friday night in the first game of the season for both teams.

The two Minor League teams were matched 0-0 going into the third inning when Bobby Cathey hit a triple and the Tigers scored twice. The Tigers held the lead until the last inning when the Lions pulled ahead by one run, winning 7 to 6.

Mike Salach and Jeff Boutwell were pitcher and catcher for the Tigers. Ricky Glaser and John Brashear were pitcher and catcher for the Lions.

YANKEES-GIANTS

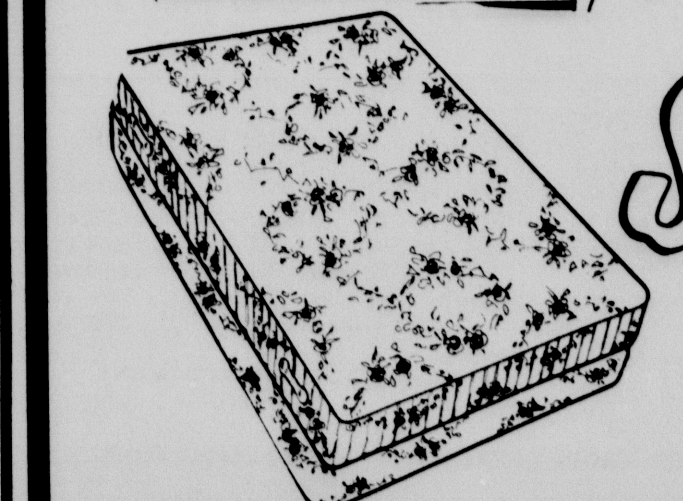

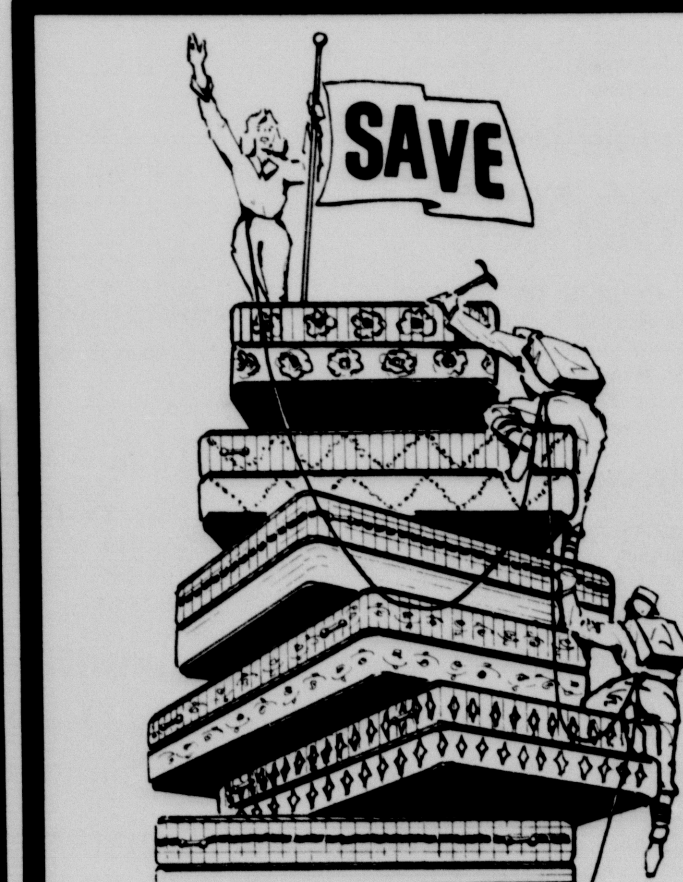

The Minor League Yankees

defeated the Giants Saturday night in another close match Saturday night after the Giants had held the lead through four innings.

Giants catcher Lloyd Hollister hit a home run in the first inning and pitcher Robert Murphy followed through with a homer in the third inning.

The Giants were ahead 7 to 3 going into the final inning, but the Yankee's rallied and finished the game with an 8 to 7 victory.

Larry Charanza and Brian Haag were the winning pitchers. Winning catcher was Ruzicka.

ONLY THE BEGINNING

For all those who truly seek wisdom this is "Only The Beginning" time. It's time for rewards but also time for setting the sails to cope with the high winds ahead. Commencement to serious minds can be little less than frightening. Have these young people learned well to do their duty? Are they qualified to accept prosperity? Are they fortified for adversity? Have they learned about God? If they have not learned these things well, then they have learned but little. Opportunities are in abundance for those who are determined. Commencement is only the first round on a ladder that reaches to the stars for all who will but apply themselves. Then, young graduates, be of great faith and unlimited perseverance. For He said you have only "to seek and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you."

Hurricanes Will Continue To Be Named For Women

By Peter Mosley
Reuter Correspondent

MIAMI
Why, in this age of women's liberation, are hurricanes always named after women? "That seems to be the way the women want it," says Garry Perdue, public warnings coordinator at the National Hurricane Center here.

"We get many more letters from people who want hurricanes named after them than we do from the people who don't like it. We are taking the majority line."

This year the ribbing will be in for Arlene, Beth, Chloe, Doris, Edith, Fern, Ginger, Heidi and Irene. Theirs are among the 21 names chosen by the computerized center for hurricanes this year. Not all will be used because the six month hurricane season which officially opens June 1 usually sees only seven to nine of the storms.

If the names are a source of jokes, there is nothing funny about the hurricanes themselves. Celia, rated the worst of last year's crop of seven, brings bitter memories to the people of Corpus Christi, where it left nine dead.

Two engineers reported in a study recently that records over the past 150 years indicate a 30 per cent chance that a hurricane will strike the coast of the Gulf of Mexico this year.

But Dr. R. H. Simpson, director of the hurricane center here, refuses to speculate on the chances. The center is constantly improving its techniques for predicting the course of the killer storms that usually start as a tropical disturbance somewhere in the Caribbean.

The next stage of development is a tropical depression - winds up to 39 miles an hour - then a tropical storm of 39 to 73 miles per hour and finally a hurricane, which has minimum winds of 74 miles per hour, often rising to 200 miles per hour.

Most victims are not killed by the force of the hurricane's winds but from the vicious tides it whips up as it approaches land, and the torrential rains.

Many early hurricanes are born in the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean. In July and August, the Atlantic coast is the most threatened, and in the latter part of the season the threat shifts back to the Gulf.

How to give the maximum warning to threatened areas is the main concern of the hurricane center. This year they are trying out new decision-making techniques to coordinate the data from aircraft reconnaissance, radar and satellite pictures.

The data is fed into a computer which can search through several hundred records. This helps to predict what the hurricane will do.

But the final word is up to the human forecasters.

Their aim is to provide at least 15 hours' warning before a hurricane hits a populated area. Improved techniques followed a congressional report accusing the center of issuing misleading forecasts on the course of hurricane Camille, which smashed across Mississippi and up to Virginia in August, 1969, leaving 255 dead.

Camille, like her vicious sisters Carla (1961) and Betty (1965), will probably be dropped forever from the center's lists of hurricane names because of the bad memories they arouse.

Next year the center plans to start a 10-year rotational list of names. For the record, the rest of the names on this year's list are: Janice, Kristy, Laura, Margo, Nona, Orchid, Portia, Rachel, Sandra, Terese, Verna and Wal-lis.

Exhibition Marks Durer's Birthday

By John Bland

NUREMBERG, West Germany
The 500th anniversary of the birth of the Great German artist Albrecht Durer 1971, which was opened May 21 on the artist's birthday by President Gustav Heinemann.

His birthplace, Nuremberg, is presenting a major exhibition of his works, entitled "1471 Albrecht Durer 1971," which was opened May 21 on the artist's birthday by President Gustav Heinemann.

It has 700 exhibits, including 400 originals by the artist, whose work is often regarded as the first flowering outside Italy of the European Renaissance.

With one foot in the middle ages and the other stepping into modern era, Durer contrived to blend old superstitions with a new view on Humanity and nature.

In his famous engraving, "The Knight and Death," the two worlds meet. The noble knight might be taken from Italian Renaissance statuary while the macabre skeleton of death and a watching demon are purely gothic archetypes.

A pair of hands resting together in the attitude of prayer, a hare at rest but suffused with a nervous energy which has survived five centuries after the original animal died, a great horned beetle drawn with photographic accuracy -- these are just some of the treasures Durer left to the world before his death in 1528 at the age of 57.

English art critic Eric Newton said of him, "Like the Flemish artists, he had none of the Italian grace, but unlike them he tried hard to catch at some of the Italian nobility."

"He visited Venice, watched the aged Giovanni Bellini at work and envied him his power to render the glow and serenity of nature, but his own natural ruggedness and honesty would not permit him to copy what he could not genuinely absorb."

"In most of Durer's work one feels the medieval world is not far below the surface, though it rarely breaks through," said Newton.

Some of the works on display at Nuremberg have been borrowed from such famous collections as the Paris Louvre, the Prado in Madrid and the British royal family collection in London.

Even a lock of Durer's hair, cut from his head after his death as a memento by one of his pupils, has been loaned by the Vienna Academy of Pictorial Art.

The ceremonies will include lectures by experts on the German renaissance and on Durer's contribution to world art.

The City Opera House is also staging a new production of Wagner's opera "Die Meistersinger Von Nurnberg" (The Mastersinger of Nuremberg).

This is not simply a case of one art form cashing in on the quinquenary of another; Durer may have met the historical Mastersinger Hans Sachs, hero of Wagner's opera, although he was considerably younger than the artist.

Other West German cities will also mark the Durer anniversary while in East Germany three major exhibitions of his work have been planned. The first opened recently in East Berlin and others will be inaugurated in Leipzig and Dresden.

The son of a goldsmith of Hungarian origin, Durer was the third child of a family of 18, of whom 15 died in childhood.

One section of the Nuremberg exhibition is called "Homage to Durer" and consists of works by later artists styled on his masterpieces.

Pablo Picasso painted one such work only four months ago, based on a Durer etching showing an artist using a grill and squared paper to get the right perspective of his model, a female nude.

Durer year is being marked by postage stamp issues and innumerable souvenirs. One manufacturer is turning out 5,000 stuffed hares styled on the famous painting, and another offers a pencil shaped like a shepherd's crook and claimed to be a replica of Durer's own.

A cartoon in the West German press showed a snackbar attendant asking a customer: "Do you want an ordinary one or an Albrecht - Durer - memorial sausage?"

Red Cedar Best For Closet

To rid your closets entirely of pests, line closet walls with red cedar, suggests Jan Slabaugh, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist at Texas A&M University.

The extra cost of red cedar is well worth the price, Miss Slabaugh adds. The aroma of cedar penetrates items stored in the closet and protects them from moths and moisture.

Moths, their larvae and red cedar do not get along, so a cedar-lined closet is entirely free from pests.

The mild odor of cedar is not pungent or excessive, but is simply a natural wood fragrance that fades after exposure to air. For the odor to penetrate and effectively exterminate pests in the closet, the door must be kept closed.

The fragrance of red cedar in a closet also eliminates musty odors since the wood is highly resistant to moisture.

When lining with cedar, don't paint or varnish the surface board. Painting and varnishing seals off the cedar's aroma.

To maximize concentration of the cedar fragrance, cover not only walls with red cedar, but inside doors, ceiling and floors as well. The tongue-and-grooved boards fit together easily and the cost of improvement is small.

Warning About Toxic 'Luv Beads'

The Food and Drug Administration warned today that a nationally marketed brand of imported candy beads contains high levels of cadmium, a toxic heavy metal, and presents a moderate to severe health hazard to children.

The product is "Love Beads" or "Luv Beads."

FDA analysis of the beads revealed cadmium levels of 1000 parts per million concentrated in an edible medallion attached to the beads.

At least 15 injuries attributed to the beads have been reported in Illinois, where the problem was first uncovered, and in California and Washington State.

The beads have been sold through such outlets as Woolco, Seven-Eleven, T.G. & Y. and similar type establishments.

Symptoms following ingestion of the candy beads are described as severe stomach pains, vomiting, lethargy and drowsiness approaching unconsciousness. Onset of the symptoms has been reported to occur within 10 to 60 minutes of ingestion. Recovery ordinarily takes place within a few hours.

The product, sold as a novelty under the brand name "Candy Love Beads" is manufactured in Hong Kong and has been distributed in the U.S. since January 1 by the Ce De Candy Co. of New Jersey. More than 600,000 of the beads have been distributed. The product is being recalled voluntarily by the distributor, FDA said.

Wallaby Saved From Extinction

By Ramsay Williams

SYDNEY, Australia
A native animal is being saved from extinction in Australia by help from New Zealand.

The parma Wallaby, a small marsupial of the kangaroo family, had all but died out here. After scientists realized it was flourishing in New Zealand, arrangements were made to bring some back to their native habitat.

The wallaby was introduced into New Zealand in the last century by Sir George Grey, who became governor and later premier of New Zealand after earlier serving as Governor of South Australia.

Until the new program started, the species -- a small, gray creature with white neck patches -- had not been seen in its native surroundings for more than 50 years.

It had apparently been killed off by hunters or forced out with the gradual spread of civilization.

Grey took the parma to New Zealand around 1861 and released it on his country property, along with other Australian native animals, such as kangaroos, foxes and rabbits.

By the 1890-s the wallabies and the rabbits had greatly multiplied, and farmers were complaining they were ruining crops.

Australian naturalists are hesitant to say the parma actually became extinct in its native surroundings like the toolache wallaby which once inhabited parts of South Australia and Victoria. But "They are certainly very rare," a spokesman for the Australian Museum said.

SAVE THE CONDOR

The U.S. Interior Department has refused to allow oil and gas drilling rights at a site near Los Angeles to protect the nesting area of the California condor, the World Wildlife Fund reports.

Exotic Foreign Plants Aid Conservation Efforts

A number of exotic foreigners are deeply embedded in the United States conservation effort.

A juniper from Japan stabilizes sand dunes in vital coastal areas. Australian ryegrass fights erosion in California, and small shrubs from Korea blossom in former strip mines.

"The big push now is for varieties that will stabilize eroded areas," says Wilmer Steiner of the United States Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service. "What we need are new plants that will thrive in the waste areas created by urban development and highway construction."

SEEK SLOW BURNER

Department of Agriculture experts currently are testing more than 200 species of plants from around the world for a slow burning variety that will protect drylands from forest fires, heal burned watersheds, and reduce fire hazards around new housing developments.

Many of the plants that beautify and protect the United States were turned up by the Department of Agriculture's globe-trotting plant explorers, the National Geographic Society says.

Since 1898 the Government agency has sponsored more than 150 expeditions to such far-off places as New Guinea and Nepal. They have returned more than 350,000 collections of seed and plants.

The famous Japanese cherry trees, zoysia lawn grass, and scores of rhododendrons and azaleas were among the many ornamentals discovered by Agriculture's explorers.

The Department of Agriculture program was proposed, organized, and for many years directed by the late David Fairchild, long a trustee of the National Geographic Society.

Dr. Fairchild, who died in 1954 at the age of 85, was personally responsible for importing and adapting hundreds of species. It was a labor of love that lasted his lifetime. "Working with plants is not really work at all," he said. "Wandering from village to village, seeking some new plant variety which might be worth of sending home. . . that is the life."

BAZAARS YIELD LITTLE

Dr. John Creech, who heads the Department of Agriculture's New Crops Research Branch, points out that collecting techniques have changed in the last few years. "Not long ago, a plant explorer could find a wide selection of ancient crop varieties in the village bazaars and open markets near their native localities."

"Today, however, little is found in this way, and plant exploration means many long, hard hours in the field with frustrations that only an archaeologist could readily comprehend."

Dr. Creech discovered one of the most promising new conser-

HAY CROP

About one-fifth of America's hay crop is sold. The remainder is fed to livestock on the farm where the hay is produced. About eight million tons of wild hay, including prairie grasses, were harvested by farmers and ranchers in 1969.

Broadcasting from a radio station began in Texas in 1920 from a station owned by the City of Dallas.

The Lonely Heart

If you're remodeling because you need more space, chances are you'll need a new water heater, too. Make it electric.

You'll need more hot water with that extra bath or that modernized kitchen, and your old water heater may not be able to handle the job. But a new electric water heater can! It has more recovery power . . . reheats fast. So, all the hot water you need comes on strong through the last load of laundry and the last bedtime shower. An electric water heater is safe, too. It needs no flue and the cabinet is always touch-cool . . . install it almost anywhere. Ask your building contractor, electric appliance dealer, plumber or TP&L about a new, dependable electric water heater!

Rep. Kubiak May Seek Re-election

Rep. Dan Kubiak of Rockdale announced today that he has not ruled out by any means his re-election to the House of Representatives for the 63rd Legislature.

Kubiak stated, "In the new District 37, composed of Milam, Williamson and part of Bell Counties, I have an excellent chance of returning to the 63rd Legislature. These are all wonderful people and I have many good friends in the three areas."

In commenting further, Kubiak said, "I want to clarify an article which appeared recently as I did not say I would not run against any of my colleagues in the House, but that I would not like to run against Representatives Bigham and Patterson who are thrown into the same district. I do not close the door, however; and if I choose to run, I will not be running against anyone, but for re-election to the Texas House of Representatives based on my record."

"I have constantly opposed wasteful pork barrel spending, the unjust Tax bills and the dictatorial Speaker of the House and the recent involvement in the stock scandals. There are several possibilities: the first will be to run for re-election in District 37; another, to run for the Texas Senate; or there is a distinct possibility that I will move into the speaker's district and try to eliminate the chief cause of the problems in the Texas House of Representatives."

"All of these will be carefully explored within the near future because I will make every effort to return and fight for the people of our area and of the state," he concluded.

equipment should have first call on the equipment and are entitled to protection."

Nathan Lewis, president of the volunteer firemen, said it was "not their fault" that only an old truck was left in the city the night of the storm. "When we get a call, we have a choice of sending a 10 year old, 20 year old, or 40 year old truck," he added.

Firemen also said they had no suits or other fireproof equipment to wear, and often ruined their clothes fighting fires. They also use their own vehicles to go to fires, it was pointed out, and received no compensation for leaving their jobs or businesses.

Mayor Perrin asked why the county couldn't help pay for equipment or help pay for a new truck, since the department answered county calls.

It was noted that a new pumper now costs from $20,000 to $22,000. The city has $12,000 in a fund for a new truck.

Council discussed the matter after the delegation left and moved to contact firetruck manufacturers and inquire about prices.

In other business, the mayor reported progress of street paving projects. Routine bills were paid and department reports approved.
